

Michelle Clayton

Michelle is part time Lecturer in Liver Care at the University of Leeds and part time Liver Nurse Educator at St. James's University Hospital, Leeds.

Michelle is passionate about championing quality care for people with liver disease. She is integral in launching the British Liver Nurses' Association (BLNA) and is a steering committee member on the RCN's Gastrointestinal Forum and EASL Nurses Group. Michelle has a large portfolio of publications including the RCN "Caring for People with Liver Disease: A Competence Framework for Nursing". She is on the editorial board of Gastrointestinal Nursing Liver Nursing Supplement.