

Shirin Demma

Shirin Demma obtained her degree and completed her training in General Internal Medicine with an Interest in Hepatology in Italy at Università degli Studi di Catania. Her main research interests are in Viral Hepatitis and Hepatocellular Carcinoma. At present she is a Viral Hepatitis Senior Clinical Fellow at The Royal Free Hospital in London, working with the North-Central London Network in the HCV Registry Project and to develop strategies to formulate the most efficient means of diagnosing, assessing and treating patients in high transmission settings.