

Fiona Fry

I am the Lead Hepatology Nurse Specialist and Non-Medical Prescriber at the Royal Devon & Exeter NHS Foundation Trust, Exeter. I have worked within gastroenterology and emergency medicine for the last 29 years. I have been in my current role for 16 years and see patients with a wide range of liver disease; I have a specialist interest in alcohol-related liver disease and viral hepatitis. I am especially committed to highlighting inequalities and ensuring equal access of care for disadvantaged patients through the establishment of outreach services. For the last 9 years she been actively involved in the BASLNF and took over as the Chair in 2014.
